

Canada Music Week is celebrated in the third week of November, which includes November 22, the day honoring St. Cecilia, Patron Saint of Music. It is designed to:

- unify performers, teachers and audiences across Canada through performances and promotion of Canadian music
- to bring the importance of Canadian music to the attention of the public, through various means
- to emphasize not only Canadian works, but also the significance of music generally
- to introduce contemporary music to Canadian students and stimulate a keener appreciation and understanding of this music
- to encourage music teachers to widen their knowledge and experience of Canadian works
- to support composers and performers of Canadian music.
